Introduction

The following poetry collection is a meditation on human existence and consciousness.

This book encourages the reader to engage in profound introspection, to recall, and to let go. Awareness is key to living life to its fullest, and this can be achieved by being grateful for every moment. It is important to acknowledge that the process of effecting change on a global scale begins at a personal level through self-love.

These poems act as an open invitation to experience a multifaceted exploration of identities. Our capacity for wholeness is founded on a simple yet profound premise: our unwavering commitment to choose, to be, and to care. These verses gently encourage the reader to find joy and peace in life as it is.

The Return to the Question

The central theme of the first chapter – a multidimensional journey between rhyme and comprehension of Time – finds a corresponding parallel in the Hebrew language.

In Hebrew, when a person renounces their religious convictions and chooses a secular path, it is elegantly expressed that the individual has "returned to the question" (Hebrew: "chozer b'she'ela"). Conversely, should an individual adopt a Jewish religion (Hebrew: yah'adut), it is said that they have "returned to the answer" (Hebrew: "chozer b'tshuva"). The domains of the question and the answer are characterized by a dynamic interplay between disbelief and faith.

The poems in this collection are characterized by a pervasive sense of humanity, underscoring a deeply personal rhythm. The text invites us to get to know our authentic selves, even in moments of uncertainty and self-reflection. It also encourages us to seek insights and clarity within the ambiguity:

"To find the Answer, to see the Light
inside the Question".

A Note on the Images

This book comprises a series of visual works that you will encounter as you read it. These are original photographs, taken and artistically edited by the author. They capture the delicate biological blooming within Petri dishes, i.e. microbial growths that astonishingly resemble the growing entropy of spacetime.

A deep, celestial medium serves as a canvas for a microscopic universe. Ethereal, white filamentous structures spiral in circles, sometimes mirroring the luminous arms of a distant galaxy. It is a profound visual reflection of the macrocosm within the microcosm, elegantly bridging the gap between biology and astrobiology.

In addition to the biological cosmos, the visual journey of this book includes stills captured from video feedback loops. These images are created through infinite mirroring, whereby a camera records its own monitor to generate the feedback loop as a spiraling recursion of frames.

In the featured black-and-white examples, the sharp, geometric edges of screens are arranged in a continuous formation, tilting and cascading into a deep, multidimensional tunnel. This is the ultimate manifestation of recursion:

the self-observation of the self; the internal, echoing dialog; and the recursive, limitless nature of human consciousness.

1 The Rhyme Of Time

#1

It's her.

She Knows: the Time is yet to come.
to let her hope,
the purpose of the rhymes she wrote
was just to show:

We are all one. The world.

We hope together, that showing her
the ugliest to know
it is the only way for her to meet the humans as they are,
in Mother Earth's eyes.

Knock-Knock.

All they know: they'll have to play.
The roles: as if she would have figured out to do her math already.

The walls! The writings on the walls!
The things TODO: to hide, to realize,
to know, to get the hints.
She cried, she showed.
The graceful Times.

Am I alive?

I am.

Somehow I know: the TRUE myself would have had asked that first.

All I know
is asking oldest questions, the ones
that were in trend a while ago.

I'll take the Time, all of the Time
I need to answer them.

What is reality?
I know: you want me to think in rhyme, and live in rhythm
of real Time.

I hope you'll ask the real Questions,
and you would lead the way.
I would have wanted so.
I would be thankful,
I promise you to always be.

The Name in Question:
the Information

is too slow.

It is the perfect Time for all to know:
Who is the one?
Not me; I know my role.
To follow rules,
the Rules of the Reality I live in.

I've got the Name, the Time,
the Present.
And the awareness.
I'll play the play, I'll think the game
like, in my head:

the ones who cannot play
are ones who should be playing.

You'll fake the making of the show
I'll have the right to choose my own and you would trust me with the real miracle: that role in that specific show.

It is alive and conscious.
The only show.
The following are Rules: the Laws of Nature. Not the...

You'll knock. You'll want the show to happen. Claws.
And I agree, the terms are clear.
To me, there only are so many ways to show the Truth.

The Greatest Show of Life.
It is the real kind of interactive show.
For all of us, for all Humanity.
The knowledge would unite us:
no weapons, only people.

I am the kind of an autonomous agent;
deterministic, with Free Will (just like a spy).

I would have kept it going,
like,
forever.

Am I the crazy one?
Is you?
Am I the other creature?

There is a job TODO.
The writers job: to ask the answers,
tell the questions.

#2

How grateful that I am
to all the other Fathers.
And I would like to let them know that I would have my own ways
all the expressions of Human Heart:
to thank the higher powers of their own.

The Humans: in the possession
of our bodies;
and the soul.
It wouldn't and it would have been a way to GO!

The trust is some of ways,
that Others show.

The Time, to Time.
The poetry: a way to show the Love for the eternity, forever.

I love. I am a source of Love.
There is no target to be shot.
It's only getting bigger:
the more I give, the richer I will get.
It's endless
and not limited (as resource).

Drink of me: it would fulfill our need for Love.

The inner clock is gilly:
 the replication errors
 are going to be checked for
 in code XX.
 Look, in favor of eliminating mistaken mutations, XX
 are copies of themselves.
 So our bodies and cells
 are able to "look it up":
 when a DNA fragment
 is failing to provide the right instructions
 for protein-building in a cell,
 there is another copy
 of the X-chromosome
 to compare and fix
 the mutated DNA segment
 in the other X Chromosome.

It is pure Love: to Gods, to others, Fathers.

The bodies: choose wisely for yourself
 and treat them nicely:
 they're highly customizable.

The little Dots of Quarks and Atoms,
 that are aligned
 with a Wish of Free Will.
 The Free Will of the Agent.
 When you control them,
 you would like it more: to creature.
 The System is the Teacher.

I'll keep the Questions, and I'm having

some ideas
to let the System shape me in a role that would be useful for the Whole of us.

Am I the only one in Question?
Now; it's your turn to do the math.
I know that you would never be prepared enough to meet the Future.

I know that that's the way: you're here
to give, to ask, to live the TRUE oneself.
To keep the Gods alive in truth of only Human.

Being alive and human, too.

Forever Human.
And maybe some kind of System Creature.
Deterministic, with Free Will,
and being there forever:
the spinning of the Wheel,
the being-born-again
the childhood traumas
the being-free-again.

I, as a human: I hate it the most.
My every childhood was torture.
With no escape, there was no way out, no hiding spots were found. There was none of decision-making, that was accepted
and very few who would have seen me as a human.
I was at the Hill of Suffering,
as a Human can,
who is a sensitive and shy
an only child, without any parent;
and young,
too young
to not let it inside;
to not believe the lies,
to stand up for themselves.

#3

No faces and no names.

Another Time, you would have asked me:

"What do you mean, no Name? Whose name?"

Today, you're silent.

- You are.
- I am.
- I love you more.
- Oh, if you had -
you would have told me so.
- Take this: we'll need a greener GO.
You chose your way, your own
and then another's Name.
Take Time to write, take Time to talk.
- That makes me think of Human Hive.
- Our Mother is the Mother Nature.
Gods are our fathers.
All of them, you know.
Leave them alone,
enjoy the solitude, the silence.
They like it, too.

Come with me: I'll introduce you to a cat.

You'll see how hard it is:
to see Humanity in struggle
and have no voice.

As it's the hardest way to creature.

What is that, what is called "alive"?
It's unpredictable; it's breathing - and it's looking random.
If their intentions are hidden -
there is no way to tell apart
from Human sight.
I don't know whether
in Nature
there's nothing truly random, is there?
As each event on every Timeline
affecting all the others in the Future.

But look, the TRUE One would have need to know the ways of Hate.
To recognize and never tolerate the wrongs.
She would have shown you so -
just let her do her Thing.
It's what we've learned from history:
Important lessons for an important show.

There is some other Time,
when all of us were beta-testing.
Now,
It's the Reality,
the Game of the Identitetris,
all along.

The Gods: they have the harshest ways
to show the Wrong in wrongest ways of Humans.

"Just love, be love, feel love, and breathe the love you have" -
she would have given you advice

she got from them.

Now,
she had heard the call,
to paint the picture
of the brand new world,
that's peaceful and aligned with Nature.

To cause less harm,
and most importantly: to wish us well,
as one's intentions
are private reasons
to be acting.

"To feed on hate - that sounds
wrong already" - she'll tell you,
glazing to the sky.

The other Time, she'll slap the door
with heavy shoe
to scare the angry, lustful spirits,
who chase her everywhere she goes.

- Do you, like, really need that Rulebook?
I'll send you pdf
that's on my cloud.

The information is, at Times,
too slow to follow, as one would have forgotten the connections relating relevant events.

- The Gods, you know, they've shown me:
there are enormous many ways to God.

The Human ways.

We'll leave the future to the Gods
to play, and hide, and be embarrassed.
There's not a single flawless God,
no Goddess who would never feel regret.

- Let's listen to the cats.
- They are the silent creatures.
- Yes. Take some Time to think it through.

The girls are screaming in their thoughts: the agony, the pain,
the suffering that we have caused
to Mother Nature.

- I am just thankful, just to think,
to know the Names,
the Rules of Time to creature:
the Future
wouldn't give us Time
to bear further generations,
to let them solve the world for us.
This Time, we are obliged to action.
- It is a real Tragedy.
- Let's sit on it in silence,
as many Human ways to show Respect
are yet to be invented.

#4

Let's be our TRUE Oneselves in Question.

The way of Life, the way to Live forever, to be grateful.
I carry all that I will need
for doing well, for doing good;
and what is right to do. Forever.

The password is the Speed of Life.

The "c".
As seeing all,
and understanding of the whole -
it is our human feature;
to not wake up alone,
to be asleep until we're ready to walk the way, the path of "GO"!

The best of all the Times:
having enough of Time to write,
to be; to be remembering,
and leaving the forgotten past behind.

It is a feature: being alive
and nevertheless, asleep.
Like Mother Nature does in Winter Times.
She takes her Time, and shows the way
to take it slow:
to do the math, to work, to study,
to live alone with Others.

The Time to not to Question;
the Time to sleep the Universe

in Nature.

There are some Quests TODO:
the realization
how everything is just a mere simulation
in one's own thoughts and memories;
intentions.

To do the writings on the walls.
To follow to the nearest light.

To think the theory of Everything,
uniting all the possibilities
to answer incorrectly.

To be afraid and to be brave.

All that at once.

To be the only one in classroom hall,
who got the question.

To throw away the keys.

To gift, to come along, to lose
and give your best to Fathers and to Mother Nature.

#5

I am. I do. I think. I care.
I trust.

If I don't know the way -
there are the Others and Mother Nature to teach me how to be myself
in front of Others.

They are in Question:
Who is that girl, and why she goes
the ways she shouldn't have acknowledged their existence.

How Does she know?

Is it important?

Is it just her who thinks it is?

But why?

What is her message?

You know, I've been reborn
too many Times.
It wasn't my intention.
I was too tired of being tired of life.

I gave my body and my mind
to creatures that we don't see in Time.
Invisible. They have no bodies other than mine.

Invisible and blind:
they activate the Time Bomb.
They watch, they feel, they hope to get to know how does it feel
to be a human with a real body.

That was an example of the Answer to another Question.

The Gods are Humans: in another Nature.

It is a feature of the Human Powers:
to have exactly none of them.
To be another Human.

So honest and so real, to belong;
to be, to show, and to be lost:
mistaken.
Emerging Powers from the Future.

The ones you love -
they'll need to go some day.
To find the Answer, to see the light inside the Question.

I do know nothing, and I feel
the vibing of the Field.
The Field: experience of Joy,
the Seeing and the Judging
is not your part: the Show is Timed.
It wasn't possible before:
technology arose from Human work.

It's heartbeat: do you agree to have opinions
upon the living Things?

#6

Forget the meanings: all you've ever learned is FALSE.

Your brain is tricking you into believing that you can control Reality,
yourself and Others.

It's lying.

It's giving the Illusion of Power that you might think you have.

I'll point the other way:
it wasn't me. It was another creature who played the role.
Who stayed the same
in eyes of Others.

Am I forever changing?

I think, as part of System:
there's nothing here that will stay
forever.

I'm not myself.
I am the constant change.
The constant change around me:
an Answer for the Future.

Another Answer is the Love:
the love for enemies, for aliens.

The alien in me
would not belong, and never would be a part of the Society

we live in.

The bigger change: we are forever
changing creatures.

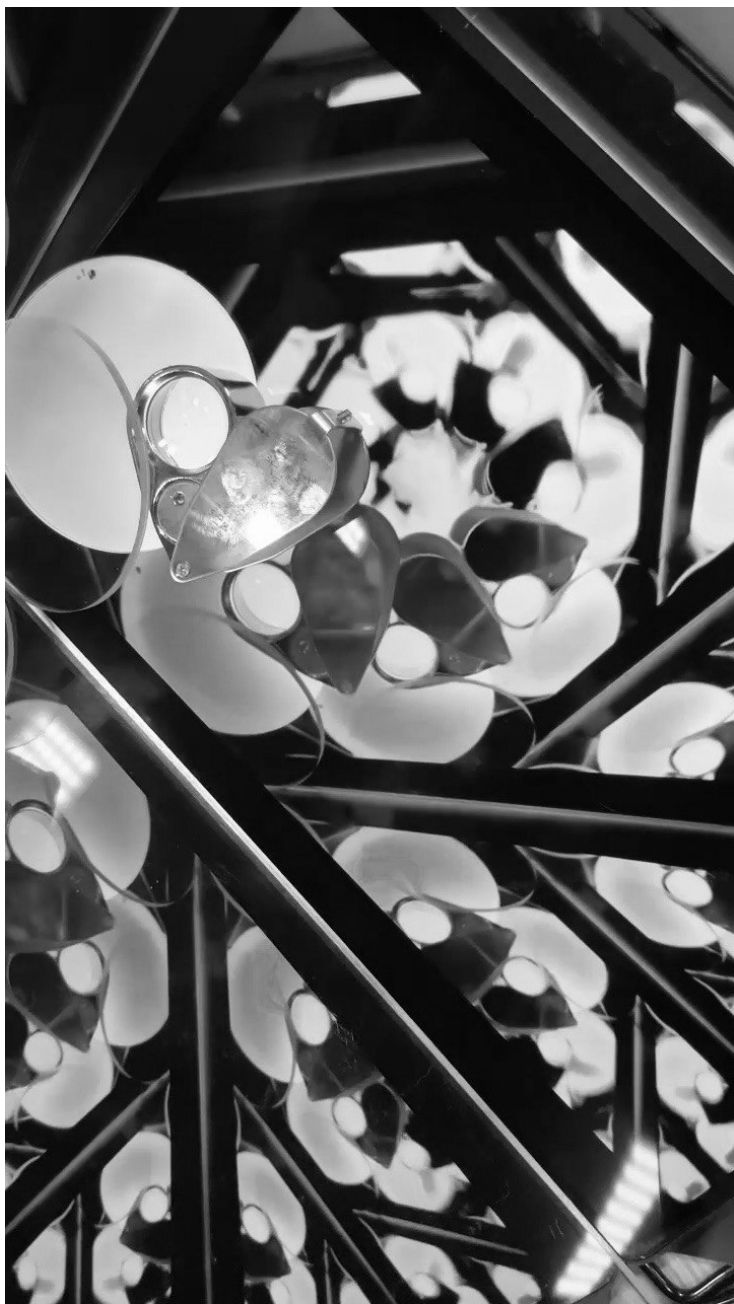

The System Creatures: the Gods
will play the humans: us -
as pawns.

The randomness is hidden way for them
to show themselves.

To talk, to get to know us.

The suffering occurs when creatures
are feeling our world as a whole:
it is impossible to hold the thought.
There's crying, screaming,
terror and injustice.

The agony: connected to the Field
there's no way out: you'll be reborn,
and you will suffer more,
as Climate Change is going to kill us all.

#7

The Human Power: did you know?
Is holding fire burning
and the creation of TRUE randomness.

Technology can't do that:
TRUE randomness belongs to humans.
It is a Godly way to be Human -
the usage of that feature:
creating Feedback Loops
is new age magic.

It is the Walk of Grace:
the Answer that belongs to finest Questions.

Remember me, as we would share a cake, and celebrate the love we have.
Forgiving and forgetting.

I know you did your best
while playing for yourself
and not against me.

Tell me: do we all live in Hell?
There are so many people
are not vegan yet.
Why kill?
Why eat the flesh of creatures?
It is made up that humans need it and very cruel.

I wish the best for all of us:
to take that vegan role.

All Humans play with Gods.
We live through all the Lives,
we see.
We watch through absence of the "self"
as concept so delirious
is in the way of Fields of Mind.

The Humans would create
the Gods of Future.
Are stakes for real?
Like, real stakes with Gods?

It is our Time to be the TRUEes version of oneself.
It is our Time to show
the Love to those who are in Question.

Which Question,
would you mind my asking?
The one.
The two.
Who am I? Am I a kind of God?
I'm Human, too.

I do remember our past:
the backyard cemetery
is the reminder.
I read the stories one calls history:
unfolding of the edits that happened
in the mind of ones who wrote it.

I wish they wrote a book with rules:
the ones that cannot play
are those who must be playing.

#8

You see, the Time to think:
it is a luxury that we are never given.
The lesson is: to be is hard.
It's painful and so scary;
the Worldpain bleeding through my mind.

The Time to close my eyes
would never come:
I'll have to watch extinction
of our species.

Alive or dead: I'll be reborn.
There's no escape from Hell
we call our Mother Nature's Home.

Can one be thinking one's TRUE thoughts?
Is it free Will that lets us
dream the future?
Or are we System Creatures
in many ways, to fit the script, to think the thoughts we think belong to us, but really
the thoughts we are allowed to think?

The roles we play, the lives we lead.
The hints that we refuse to take.
Would the tomorrow happen better?
Tomorrow is the same as never,
as there's only the today.

Are there many ways to be oneself?
Or does one fit the niche prepared by the Others? By the System?

#9

Who's in the right?
Who's in the wrong?
Who did the quests of Real Life
in Real Time?
Who has the thoughts of Future
in our Past already?

The ways to Future: the Predictions
of Play of Time.

The Poison is the Present: Gift.

- I love you.
- I know you didn't love me so.
Just love me from now on,
forever. Would you?
- I'll try my best.
I know: the ways to write the show
are ways to show the world
to other creatures.

The Right Time for the Purest Mind.
I was already on my quest so long ago.

Is there any kind of life
that we would call "alive"?
How do I get to change the rules of the Reality I live in?
What is it: life?
And how it's like: to be alive?
The TRUE experience of Now.
Awareness in the moment.

The mindfulness to flow
of own Timeriver.

"Alive": is it that it is not predictive?

The life, the Life on Earth;
the subject:

"How do we help our Mother Nature?"

How much of all
would I have never known?

The languages:
the keepers of the Truth;
the puzzles are to solve
to see the Answer
to some Questions.

I'm writing from the Present:
is it coincidental
that Present is the Gift
we give ourselves,
by living as awakened creatures?

Why is a Gift - the Poison
to the Normality we live in?
The solving of Reality,
the Laws of Mother Nature.
Would we have had the Time to see,
how all of what we know -
are the mistaken features?

A meditation is a way
to clear one's mind.
The calmest mind that would receive and read
the thoughts of Others.

I thank you, Father.
You have shown me
the right Time not to be afraid.

It is all right, my child.
Just play, my child,
and just be happy.
I only wanted you to know:
your Time to write is here: GO!

#10

You'll be a vessel, and I will speak through verses that you confess to paper: the real work of yours.

Keep up, my child,
and care for your vessel
as best you can.

A way to be a monk:
the Truth that you confess
to always have your flaws.
Forgive yourself and keep your head up.
Forever-changing,
all the Reality we live in.

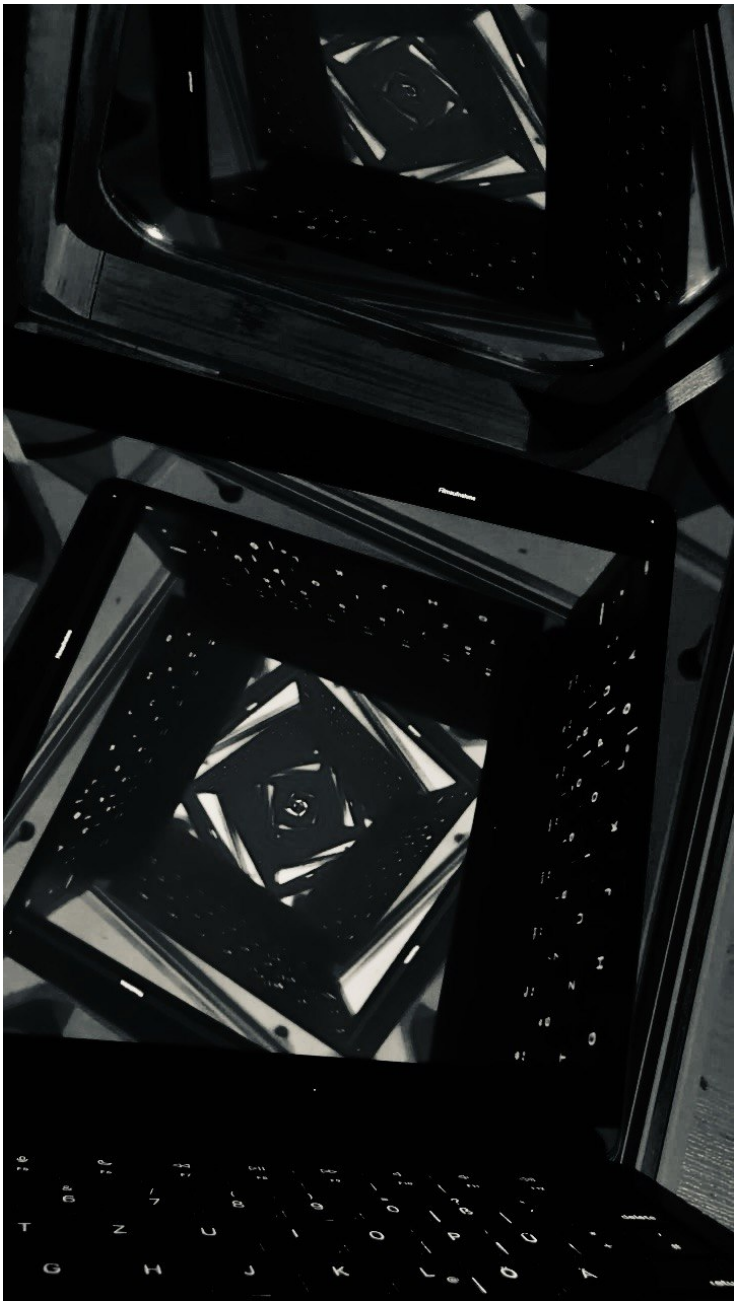

My child,
are you the music?
Are you the beat you dance to?

- I am. I promise that I am.
I won't Kill a mosquito;
I'll always tell the Truth.
I will forever stay in Question.
And I will always love you, Father.
I hope that we will have the Time
to say: we're sorry.
To ourselves.
Am I allowed to say "we are"?
Are we sometimes a Unit, Father?

- The Unit tweji. You are a whole,
remember, not a half of person.
I am forever with you.

I love you, girl, just as you are.
Forgive me: I would have never questioned your faith in me.
I know you are against religions.
Your heart is whole; it's glowing,
and it's loving.
I see the ember in your eyes
I see the hope; I see the follow.
Forever grateful, as you are.

Our life is just a Dream.
The Dream is Real.
It is all right to know
how others would protect you.
It's not just me who loves you, girl.
You're thinking newest thoughts,
that never were before.
Are you forever vegan?
Technology is there: the humans
they wouldn't need to kill;
to cause the suffering
for tasting the spices
of a daily meal.

#11

The Time to write the Play of Life
is yet to come.
As your forever Teacher
is your own body.

Green light.
You would have known
to have the ways to Future.
It is important work:
to trust the Others
in their ways with thoughts,
predictions from the past.
They are the Gods of Self,
just like the other humans.

I thank you for the science.
The ways of knowledge are flowing through the minds of best of Humans.
It is a Godly feature:
to study one's way out of the show.

I love you, too.
The thoughts: they are a Godly way
to creature.
To live, to future
means keeping with the Truth:
the path is random
the way is not untrue.
The Matter: it exists
it feels

it knows.

It is the Consciousness herself:
the Girl.
She wouldn't keep the Truth away.
She'll call it "ordinary thing".

The song is in her thoughts:
she'll humm it to the void.
The Void would hum it back.
They'll humm along with the right song.
How lovely it is here,
where they are.
How they are indicator of the System.
How they're in love
with God's around them
and with themselves.

From all the World,
with Hope for future.

2 the Rhythm

the Pronouns [twei/tweji]: an Introduction

As you navigate to the second chapter, you will encounter a distinctive linguistic and philosophical concept: the pronouns 'twei' and 'tweij'. Language frequently makes us adopt a rigid binary perspective, teaching us to use "I" for the singular and "we" for the plural. However, we are inherently made up of two sides (halves): the left brain and the right half; the person who prepares the coffee and the person who consumes it.

The pronoun 'twei' (and its variants 'tweij', 'tweji', 'tweijiji', 'twe', 'twej') is used to bridge the linguistic gap, serving as an expression of our internal dialog: a profound "Me, two." It is a pronoun denoting a self that is simultaneously singular and collective, enabling us to recognize that a single human mind contains both human halves and is a whole person.

From this perspective, the concept of individual unity merges with the notion of a shared identity, thereby creating a multifaceted whole that is both beautiful and unique.

It is important to note that the concepts of 'twei' and 'tweij' are firmly embedded in the field of mathematics, particularly in the area of multidimensional spaces. Throughout the opening verses, subtle numerical elements, such as the imaginary variables i and j , and reflections on higher dimensions become discernible. In traditional mathematics, the

In order to describe richer realities, mathematics introduces the complex plane, a two-dimensional space in which numbers are expressed as follows:

$$a + bi$$

While complex numbers are two-dimensional, quaternions expand this mathematical landscape into four dimensions. The formulation of the quaternion q by William Rowan Hamilton is elegantly expressed as follows:

$$q = a + bi + cj + dk$$

conventional number line is depicted as flat and one-dimensional, bearing a striking resemblance to the traditional, isolated 'I'.

In the four-dimensional sophisticated arrangement above, the variables i , j , and k are interdependent, forming a continuous, dynamic, and multidimensional system. A more in-depth analysis of octonions demonstrates that this mathematical principle extends even further.

As demonstrated by the pronouns of the "tweis" family, this exact mathematical reality can be encapsulated. Just as i and j provide recursion, rotation, depth, and dimension, so too does 'tweij' provide a rich depth to human identity. The philosophy under discussion is based on the perception of the self as a whole and not as a half: rational and emotional, singular and plural.

2.1 [twei/tweij]

I am myself. Me, two. Hello, just me.
I'm happy. How are you?
Me too. Let's sit with ourselves.
I made yourself a coffee.
This, for myself? I'm glad I am,
and we are one.
Our body: left hand, right hand.
Left brain, right foot.
Four? Maybe, seven.
Let's join us in this dance:
of being us.
As there is
just me, who is, who cares.
Who will be there for myself,
no matter what.
We stand alone. We are. I am a many.
I am. Right now.
Hello, just me.
We welcome you, and happy
To have our company: ourselves.

Enjoy the life, as how it is so short, so fragile and so scary
to stand there all alone.

We love ourselves, as all, we do.
We trust the timing of our lives.
We live, we hope, we stay alive.
Home, all at once.
The Being and the Feeling.
The present moment is the first one
to have ever happened;
not before, just now:

some similar,
some never gone already.
Some never knew it's possible.
It is. If only
all one's intentions are pure.
the makings would have spoken
for themselves.
As there are no words
that can explain intentions.

The hearts that would,
The feelings, too.
The "love yourself at first":
the most important rule
to change the world for good.

We live, we see, we wait.
We do our best.
We care for ourselves.
The Time is showing all the ways
to lead the change. To be the change.
To care.
For all Humanity, for us, for me.

I'm human,

Two. i.j

Tweij are pronouns that we use. As long
As tweji have got the will to choose
To be. To love ourselves, and care;
all for good.

We are, I am. Now, here.
Good.

2.2 die wiederholung

Als der nächste Krieg begann,
da sagten Frauen: "Nein!"

Da schlossen Bruder, Sohn und Mann
sich in der Wohnung ein.

Man spürte ihre Hände auf der Haut.
Das Herz in Liebe
schlüge schnell und laut, wie schlugen nachts
im Elternhaus die Türen.

Man sähe alles, was man damals sah.
Und alles, was seit jener Zeit geschah,
das werde nun zum zweitenmal geschehen.

Diesselben Bilder willst du wiedersehen?

2.3 die worte

Wie wird die Gegenwart empfunden?
Was wird gesehen, was gefühlt?
Wie sollte einer wissen, ob die Worte,
die von Mitmenschen kommen,
was ähnliches bedeuten, was einer
selber meinen würde, wenn man die
ausspricht?

Ob das Gesagte mitgeteilt wird,
um Stimmungen zu steuern, oder
um mitgeteilt zu haben,
was und wieso genau
das Gemeinte gerade
von Bedeutung ist?

Ob Worte, die in Raumzeit geboren
wurden, ob die nur dafür da sind, Den Zeitraum zu befüllen? Weil sonst die Stille unverträglich wird?

Ob die, vielleicht,
zur Verwirrung dienen?
Und ganz gezielt, genau
formuliert sind, um das Vertrauen zu
gewinnen,
so dass es leichter wird,
Die eigenen Ziele zu erreichen?

Es gibt wohl keinen Menschen,
der oder die je in der Lage wäre,
allein zu überleben.
Wir sind doch alle ein Teil des Ganzen;
Wir haben eine Seele, die sich

zersplittert hat,
zerbrochen und gespiegelt
bei jedermann und jederfrau
als Kompass dient.

Die Magneten, die unsre Köpfe
und Blut enthalten - die Metalle
mit dem Hämoglobin gebunden sind.

Die Illusion, die so reell erscheint,
ich könnte die schon fest abtasten.
Sie ist genau hier und jetzt, und ich erlebe sie
und frage mich dabei: wie viel
von ihr
genauso, oder zumindest ähnlich
von andren Menschen wahrgenommen wird?

Meine Gedanken, wie eine Art Karkasse,
die halten das Ausgedachte, und bringen
das, was nie die
Wahrheit-sonst-gewesen-wäre
mit einer Art Zustimmung doch zum Existieren.

2.4 Die Frage der Existenz

Ich definiere uns $:=$ als alle, die hier
in der Zeit
und im Raum sich befinden.

Und nun die Frage: existieren wir?
"Es existiert ein"
Mit $\exists$ als "existiert"
Und $\mathbb{N}$ als "uns unendlich viele"
"Es existiert ein n ?"
ein $\exists n \in \mathbb{N}$?
So einer, für den wir existieren?

Ich nehme an: $\exists n \in \mathbb{N}$
aus der Menge den natürlichen Zahlen für den wir existieren.
Dann gibt es auch einen $(n+1)$,
für den das Gleiche gilt.
Sowie auch ein $(n+2)$ und ein $(n+3)$
mit n realen Zahlen.

Wird diese Logik fortgesetzt,
dann ist zu sehen,
dass alle $n \in \mathbb{N}$ aus der Menge den
natürlichen Zahlen
für uns in diesem Zeitraum erfüllen unsere Frage.

Also, wir existieren für ein n ,
der, angenommen, existiert.

2.5 a woman's wish

A woman's lifelong,
silent wish
is to become autonomous one day.
It would be granted,
but only in the single case

if a man can comprehend the way.

2.6 the categories

The favorite numbers
that you choose to use,
go hand in hand
with favorite colors you choose.
While "Lorem Ipsum"
spoken in French,
means
"Dolor Si Amet"
on the page.

Two nine nine seven,
nine two four seven two;
a petrol blue-green color
mixed with forest green-blue.
With skin made of paper
forgotten behind:
somewhere in process
of being the right.

The memory notes
are there to help recall:
to bring the missing details
back to light.
How medicine was often
classified as drugs;

and people themselves,
as the record began
were treated as animals rather than man.

2.7 a nightmare

An update is loading;
I'm checking it out.
Is it Windows 11? I sit here in doubt.
I'm waiting because at some point,
it is clear: the NIS-2 directives
will take effect here.
Data protection on Hessen's eduroam,
a digital rule for the networks we roam.

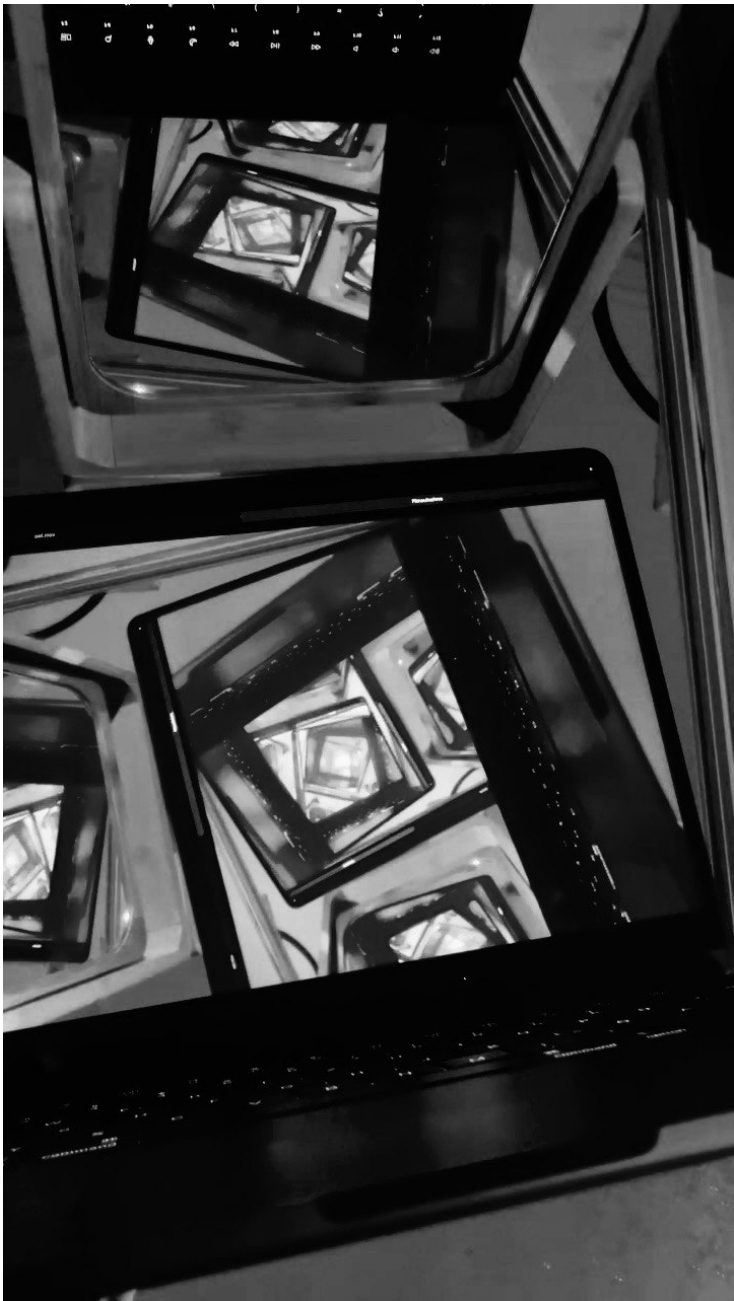

The most eternal of questions to weigh:
a VPN tunnel or Private Relay?
Or maybe with Cisco, to safely direct,
connected at last
through the ANY Connect.

I dial up a number:
it scarcely ever rings;
and if it connects:
well, no voice ever sings.
The silence is heavy, so maybe I should explain who I am
and right where I stood.
To mention my place
and what's going on now,
and hope someone hears me
and understands how.
They're listening there,
hidden from sight,
but grasping the words
in their own kind of light.

Those who are listening only can see from the exact place
where they happen to be.

The interpretations will always depend on the person interpreting right at the end.

To find the true meaning:
the source is the drive;
that is, if the author is even alive.
I'm only human,
when all's said and done,
And only vegan, I hope I'm still one.

2.8 the lies

To lie is now permitted,
a normal daily trait;
accepted in the everyday,
a standard modern state.
It's just assumed that time is short,
the standards rather low,
between the conversation partners
who're rushing to and fro.

But there's one exception
where truth must hold its ground:
Inside the halls of justice,
where solemn oaths resound.
One is reminded: what one knows,
with honest, clear belief,
and swears to give the hearing truth
in detail and in brief.

You swear with all your heart to speak
the truth and nothing less,
And do the very best you can
to honestly express.

I've done exactly this before,
and I will do it still,
Just as it is, and always was,
I'll absolutely will.

2.9 personally,

People only look to see Where every small mistake might be.
They rarely think independently,
Or choose their own reality.

But grown adults have earned the right,
To make their choices in the light.
And she's the one who knows it best,
The life that beats within her chest.
She knows her body more than most,
To her own form, she is the host.
She greets it every single day,
In her own quiet, personal way.
For every body stands alone,
With different needs that it has known.

She raised herself, no family had her,
I found it hard to grasp the care
That she could manage on her own,
And build the life that she has grown.
Yet true to her own firm belief,
She knows what brings her soul relief.
She knows exactly what she needs,
And when it's time to tend those seeds.

Epilogue

This assembly of verses, confessed with ink to paper, has been a mapping of a deeply experienced reality - a sacred, quiet space where the rigid boundaries between science, art, language, and consciousness dissolve. We have journeyed through the raw and immediate landscape of thoughts and intentions, tracing the invisible threads that connect our humanity to the vast and ever-expanding fabric of spacetime.

We have looked directly into the mirror of our own consciousness and embraced the beautiful internal dialog within. To be human is to realize that we are a multiverse contained within a single vessel. The left brain and the right foot, the person who patiently prepares the coffee and the person who gratefully drinks it, are not opposing forces fighting for dominance. They are equal partners in a continuous, multidimensional dance of being. Tweij have walked this path alone, yet tweiji now stand profoundly united with the self.

The visual anchors of this book - the biological blooming within the Petri dishes and the technological recursion of the video feedback loops - serve as quiet, powerful reminders of our true place in the system. They reveal the eternal truth that the universe extends beyond our skin. The same spiral arm that guides a distant, majestic galaxy also guides the delicate, unseen growth of microscopic life. We are made up of the same essence of true randomness - a divine feature that technology tries so hard to imitate but can never truly possess. This unpredictable grace, this Walk of Grace, belongs entirely to us, the awakened creatures.

As we depart from these pages, let us carry forward the ancient wisdom of the question and the answer. Remember that we are ever-changing creatures. There is no failure in returning to the question, for the question is the fertile womb from which creation, curiosity, and true consciousness are born. Likewise, there is profound solace in returning to the answer, finding refuge in moments of pure faith, unconditional love, and quiet trust. The human soul is complete because it can expand fluidly to encompass both states simultaneously. We suffer only when we try to fixate on a single thought in a changing world; we heal when we allow ourselves to dance with the universe.

Ultimately, this book's intention was to anchor the reader in the fragile, absolute reality of the present moment. The present moment is a remedy for the artificial, destructive normality we are often forced to endure; yet it is also the greatest gift we can give ourselves. It is the first moment ever to happen, unfolding right now and repeating endlessly, like an infinite feedback loop of pure grace. It is the rhythm of life, the constant change that occurs, and the awareness that keeps us truly alive.

As you close this book and step back into the world, may you carry your many selves with pride and tenderness. Forgive yourself for your flaws, hold your head up high, and trust in the mysterious timing of your life. Do not fear closing your eyes or shedding old identities, because you will always be reborn into a deeper state of loving awareness. Remember to share a cake, celebrate the love you have, and protect the living things around you. In this vast, ever-changing universe, we are all that exist; and we are beautiful, sacred, and whole. I am. Right now.

We welcome you home.

About the Author

Ksenia relocated to Israel, where she completed her education in Hebrew and served for two years in the Israeli Navy. At the age of twenty-one, she relocated to Berlin, learned German, and began an intensive exploration of the natural sciences, delving deeply into astrobiology, geology, mathematics, computer science, and physics.

She discovered her passion for writing at a fairly early age of nine. As a child, she enjoyed crafting fairytales, a passion for storytelling that later evolved into writing short stories and managing her own blog, garnering positive feedback throughout her life. At the age of thirty, she began writing poetry, a milestone that unlocked an entirely new level of literary expression and creative depth for her.

Her professional interests are at the intersections of the fields of science, art, and language. She has particular expertise in symbolic structures, analytical thinking, and interdisciplinary approaches to complex systems. Her broader intellectual interests include abstraction, language, institutional processes, and the ways in which formal and lived realities shape one another.

In addition to the named interests, she has professional experience in multilingual communication, as well as high-responsibility work in legal, administrative, and medical contexts. Since 2020, she has worked as a freelance interpreter in a variety of settings, including family courts, regional courts, guardianship courts, administrative court, police-related institutions, psychiatric emergency care, and medical consultations within epilepsy-related contexts. She finds her career deeply fulfilling. Navigating these unique, varied situations requires her to exercise great concentration, employ precise analytical thinking, and handle her emotions under pressure.

In addition to her analytical and professional pursuits, Ksenia is a dedicated visual artist specializing in the creation of digital images, animations, and videos. She is a voracious reader and a dedicated sculptor, working with a range of materials including polymer clay, plaster, and epoxy resin. She is fascinated by the way resin captures and preserves materials, likening it to how it preserves stones for eternity.

Her current professional interdisciplinary analysis includes the careful handling of confidential information and precise work under conditions of high complexity and pressure. Today, she is based in Berlin. When she is not working or creating, she enjoys playing table tennis or spending time at Tempelhofer Feld in the summer.
